Each new season brings fresh triumphs for the Bell Singers. Since their last recital, they have appeared again with the Toronto Symphony Orchestra, and also as guest artists on several national radio programmes. They have toured to all parts of Ontario, and are soon to appear in the United States. Their programme for next season includes transcriptions, short wave broadcasts and the making of moving pictures to be distributed to all parts of the world.

The annual recital of the Bell Singers with its lavish pageantry and brilliant choral work has become a tradition with Canadian music lovers. Last year, all seats were sold out two days after the box office opened. Tickets for this year's performance should be obtained early.
